UME NEXT JANUARY!

OAN WE RESUME NEXT JANUARY!

The conference yesteriaw between General Eving and Mr. Chittenden, as a sub-committee of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, on the one side, and a number of prominent hankers of this city on the other, reduces the probism of resumption down to a question of fact: Can we resume in gold and silver when the rolium of our outstanding legal studier and bank note circulation and bank deposite a recede all the gold and silver in the country available for the purpose in the proportion of perhaps 8 to 17 he New Tork bankers seemed to think that it reaumption was possible, and Mr. Ewing and those who think with him think it impossible.

There seems to be no dispute that the obligations which might be offered for redemption would aggregated $5,000,000,000. Of this sum $600,000,000 are legal tendens; $3000,000,000 in national bank notes; and the remainder in bank can be a sum of the seem of the seems of the seems gold and sliver demanded for it; the whole mational bank circuistion will not be presented to each of the banks and coin demanded for their face value; nor yet will every one who has money or eposit demands it in specie. This is concoded, and the resumptionists lay a great deal of stress upon this ized.

On the other hand, the anti-resumptionistation, the same property of the propose was at least equal to the outstanding paper circuistion whose redemption might be demanded. This is the experience of aithe other nations of the world. In France we lately saw that the day of resumption was put off until the requirement that there should be a france in coin benind every france in paper was fully met, though coin circuistion from the present of until the requirement that there should be a france in coin benind every france in paper was fully met, though coin circuisted freely in the nation at large long before this. At the present time we have, it is estimated, about $150,000,000 in coin in this courty. Now, be it remembered that our paper circuistion is $600,000,000 in coin in this courty. Now, be it remembered that our paper circuistion is $600,000,000 in coin. In 1801 the gold and affere coin in this country was $250,000,000 and the bank not circuistion, was $250,000,000 and the bank not circuistion was $250,000,000 in coin circuistion, of which $500,000,000 in coin and only $180,000,000 in france and England resumption next January is impossible, simply because there is not coil and silver enough in the country available for the purpose. Now, it has been pointed out that the downment may be able to resume but the national banks may not be. The $60 three or the resurry is undoubted, but it might easily happen that designing men might make a raid on the or twenty or one hundred of the 2,000 national banks may not be. The solivency of the Treasury is undoubted, but it might easily happen that designing men might make a raid on the or twenty or one hundred of the 2,000 national banks and nours believe everywhere. BLAINE ON SCHUEZ.

The United States Senate has, colloquially speaking, shot its grandmother. It has found a mare's neet. It has gone hunting and bagged a staw man. Festerday it passed Blathe's timber amendment to the Deficiency bill by a vote of 48 to 4, "which," the Tribane correspondent says, "would seem to be a vote of consure so strong regulant Mr. Schurr that it would attract attention at the White House." That amendment prohibites the Secretary from charging any stumpage on Government timber taken by settlers unless it was for exportation or sale. As the Secretary has half a Gossn times within a week, to Time Statement of the Control of portation or sale, and never it is as a substitute of the sale of letters indiscriminately to gratify personal inge, and prohibiting Sherman from relling suback-plates to counterfeiters. None of them attempted to do any of these things, but a t resolution or an amondment letter.

The Savings Banks law, which fassechusetts depositor from or mount of his deposit for three j doubtedly have a great effect in a fact that the saving of the thrifty portion has a free fact in the saving of the sa The flavings Banks law, which prevents the Massachusetts depositor from controlling the amount of his deposit for three years, will undoubtedly have a great effect. In destroying the condidence of the thritty portion of the community in savings banks. There are about 180 savings banks in Massachusetts, with an aggregate of deposits of over $200,000,000. The depositors have always regarded this as a call loan. They have always they determined the positiors have always regarded this as a call loan. They have always thought that whenever they wanted their money they could cell it. Now they are told that they cannot. In one year the Brighton bank, which contrasted with its depositors that it would pay them in full on a week's notice, is only compelled to pay twenty per cent. The passage of this law strikes a greater blow at savings banks than the most persistent "runs" could do, for it strikes at the feature which made savings banks ap opoular—that confidence than when a depositor had use for his mosey he could obtain it. As he cannot do so he will certainly, for the future, seek some other mode of investing his savings. It is pleasant at times to see greed pustahing fiself, and unless the signs fait the trustees of the "shaky" savings banks of Massachusetts have overresched themselves. But they have obtained a temporary relief at the expense of the depositors who put money under their control when the law was quite different from what the new statute has made it. their control when the law was nt from what the new statute has

Half a lost being better than no bread, it may be advisable for those interested in obtaining a general international copyright law to accept Mr. Blackbours's bill for the better protection of plays and dramatic literature. It might be taken as a step in the right direction. But the friends of the measure should understand the point at which the attack against it will be chiefly aimed. It will be claimed that the bill is not for the protection of the authors of foreign plays, but only for the heathor of foreign plays, but only for the benefit of American citizens who may purchase these productions for representation in this country. The best answer to this objection is, that at least the authors will get something, since the American agents must buy the copy from them or their agents and pay something for it. We are not very assugine over the matter, however. Indeed, the prospect of feeting any very great progress towards obtaining agency in the proposition of the publishers and bookseliers is concentrated and atrong. They will probably continue for a long time to come to hold the fort of free trade in books against the attacks of American producers.

against the attacks of American producers.

Suicides are very prevalent. Not alarmingly prevalent, perhaps, because, atthough suicide is a diversion which is by no means to be encouraged, it cannot be denied that most of those who suddenly take themselves off "leave their country for their country's good." There are respectable exceptions; but, as a rule, suicides are so lasy or so vicious that their room is a good deal better than their company. Men who are an honor to the world very rarely quit it voluntarily; and, as old George Darler said, "the miserablest day we live, there is many a better thing to do than die." Napoleon put this matter squarely, when he slept on the bed of defeat and dised on chaptin, at 8t. Helena: "True herotan consists in being superior to the tills of life in whatever chaps they may challence him to combat." Dyspersia causes many suicides. A disordered liver has led thousands to take the lesp in the dark when a timely blue-pill would have saved them to still longer consume the rations of an under-fed race.

HROFHERSOOD OF THE NEW LIFE.

It is understood that the talented, eccentric and philosophical Mr. Lawrence Oliphanh has again become weary of existence in the ordinary world and has rejoned Mr. T. L. Harris's community of the "Protherbood of the New Life." Very little of this association is known outside of its own narrow ranks. It has two sattlements, one in Souther Chalfornia, the other at ill position, his education and his talents readed him to begin life under the most favorable circumstances. He was still a yousginan when he became a member of Parliament—offere the reward for which as Englishman will spend a long life of toll. He has written several mentiorous books and was at one time the Parls correspondent of the London Thrus. He comes from what is a man of liberal culture, Some years since he turned his back upon all his prospects of fame and joiced this community: but subsequently left is for a time and was, we believe, an assistant manager of the Direct Chale Company in this city. PRESERVATION OF OUR FORESTS.

Along our Atlantic semboard, from the northern extremity of Maine to the mouth of the Buo Gunde, there are yest stricthes of desolute and barren lands; narrow sandy desorts, extending lack into the interior for a score of miles in some places, in others but a mile or two wide; beaten on one side by the ceaseless and these with a few scrubby willows or stunted oaks, and inhabited only by little families of fishermen and wreckers, and by the men attached to he life-awing stations. Nothing more melancholy can be imagined than existence on these lugathous wastes; the people there are always and when they are not drank; and their poverty renders it difficult for them often to obtain the only solace which they seem to prize. But these deserts were once fertile garden; when the eyes of white men first sarveyed this coast, they beheat where positions are assured that coast, they beheat where positions are always and when they are not drank; and their poverty renders it difficult for them often to obtain the only solace which they seem to prize. But these deserts were once fertile garden; when the eyes of white men first sarveyed this coast, they beheat where passing the sarveyed this coast, they beheat where passing the sarveyed the coast, they beheat where the sarveyed the coast, they beheat where they have been coast, and they describe the sarveyed the sarveyed

This result encouraged dums and sand steppes, and in the course of air-teen years this rapidly-growing tree had formed real teem and an expense and in the course of air-teen years this rapidly-growing tree had formed real teem arkable. Every piece of the root, which need not be half an inche long, if planted like a postso, will produce a plant, and the seed, whether scattered on the ground or covered with a thin layer of soil, will quickly germinate. The survey by the National Government of the coast; the determination of the localities where the desolution is the worst; the appropriation of a not extravagant sum of money for the purchase, planting and culture of the trees, would in a few years produce most admirable and happy results. It must be kept in mind that the cell consequences of the demonstrate, and the product of the trees, would have a constrained to the coast itself. But it is not at all on the sea-coast alone that the work of reforesting the country should be speedly undertaken. Mr. Carl Schurz, in his gall haut and fearless defence of our existing national forests against the organized gangs of timber-lives who have so plundered them, should have the corditae. THE TRAMF.

[To the Batter of The Grankic.]

The people of New York might be surprised and shocked were a procession to be organised of the tramps now congregated within the city limits. It is an ominous spectacle when one sees, as in frequently the case, bands of these ranged, homeless of the tramps now congregated within the city limits. It is an ominous spectacle when one sees, as in frequently the case, bands of these ranged, homeless of the tramps now congregated within the city contain, hundreds and thousands of human beings without the certainty of a cart horse of petting food and shelter, and who are wandering about from place to place more aiminestly than bird and hossis! Because these, be they are wandering about from place to place more aiminestly than bird and hossis! Because these, be they are wandered to be the control of recklessing and might, and clad in rags revelug with vermin and uncleanliness. Can the public regard much longer with indifference the presence and seeming increase of a chase of human beings in that of recklessings, manuelessness, fith, dissipation and departation! This is termed a Christian country, yet these fag ends of humany literally lie down and the atour doors. The citizen, day and night, is constantly importuned by these men for a pittance to buy something to eat, and the white of the desperadus often changed to the thread of the desperadus.

FEMALE LOBSTISTE.

PLAMES IN A CONFECTIONERY ESTABLISHMENT.
Shortly after two o'clock this afternoon a fire, which caused but slight diamage, broke out one fourth floor of Green & Blackwell's confectionery establishment, on Greenwich afters, between grade place and Murray street. The fire is said to have been caused by the boiling over of a sugar boilare.
