BE YOUR OWN ASTROLOGER

Alan Leo's Astrological Text Books

Vol. I. ASTROLOGY FOR ALL, Part I. Fourth Edition.

(Without Calculations.)

This book is entirely free from all calculations, requiring no knowledge of mathematics, and can be read throughout the whole of its 300 pages by the most simple-minded or by the keenest intellect, and what is very much to the purpose, the truth of the statements it contains can be proven by each individual reader; indeed the most confirmed critic cannot avoid being amazed at the accuracy of its delineations. The minds of none will be injured by its perusal, and all must benefit by the instruction it gives. This New Edition has been considerably enlarged.

Price 10/6, 10/10 post free.

(Each part is complete in itself.)

Vol. II. CASTING THE HOROSCOPE.

(Astrology for All, Part II.) Second Edition.

(Calculations and Ephemeris.)

No astrological book ever published has had such a rapid sale as this work. It contains a reliable ephemeris from 1850 to 1909, thus saving the student several pounds. A Table of Ascendants is given for All Latitudes, and there are simple instructions for accurately calculating nativities for any part of the world. In fact it has been termed THE ASTROLOGER'S BAEDeker.

Price 10/6, 10/10 post free.

(Each part is complete in itself.)

Vol. III. HOW TO JUDGE A NATIVITY, Part I. Second Edition.

(Analysis.)

ASTRONOMY, in a word, represents the mathematical aspect of ASTROLOGY; possessing a mechanical turn of mind, any one exercising patience, industry and perseverance, may become a capable astronomer. There are few, however, competent to Judge a Nativity when it is cast, and many desiring a true delineation of their own horoscopes, or those of others, are often disappointed through the incompetence of unskilled professors.

Is it not better to profit by your own mistakes in the attempt to Judge your Nativity than to pay dearly for the mistakes of others? Certainly! Then make the attempt and BE YOUR OWN ASTROLOGER.

Price 10/6, 10/10 post free.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

The Theosophical Society was formed at New York, November 17th, 1875, and incorporated at Madras, April 3rd, 1905. It is an absolutely unsectarian body of seekers after Truth, striving to serve humanity on spiritual lines, and therefore endeavoring to check materialism and revive religious tendency. Its three declared objects are:

FIRST.—To form a nucleus of the Universal Brotherhood of Humanity, without distinction of race, creed, sex, caste or color.

SECOND.—To encourage the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science.

THIRD.—To investigate the unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY is composed of students, belonging to any religion in the world or to none, who are united by their approval of the above objects, by their wish to remove religious antagonisms and to draw together men of good will, whatsoever their religious opinions, and by their desire to study religious truths and to share the results of their studies with others. Their bond of union is not the profession of a common belief, but a common search and aspiration for Truth. They hold that Truth should be sought by study, by reflexion, by purity of life, by devotion to high ideals, and they regard Truth as a prize to be striven for, not as a dogma to be imposed by authority. They consider that belief should be the result of individual study or intuition, and not its antecedent, and should rest on knowledge, not on assertion. They extend tolerance to all, even to the intolerant, not as a privilege they bestow, but as a duty they perform, and they seek to remove ignorance, not to punish it. They see every religion as an expression of the Divine Wisdom, and prefer its study to its condemnation, and its practice to proselytism. Peace is their watch-word, as Truth is their aim.

THEOSOPHY is the body of truths which forms the basis of all religions, and which cannot be claimed as the exclusive possession of any. It offers a philosophy which renders life intelligible, and which demonstrates the justice and the love which guide its evolution. It puts death in its rightful place, as a recurring incident in an endless life, opening the gateway of a fuller and more radiant existence. It restores to the world the Science of the Spirit, teaching man to know the Spirit as himself, and the mind and body as his servants. It illuminates the scriptures and doctrines of religions by unveiling their hidden meanings, and thus justifying them at the bar of intelligence, as they are ever justified in the eyes of intuition.

Members of the Theosophical Society study these truths, and Theosophists endeavor to live them. Every one willing to study, to be tolerant, to aim high, and to work perseveringly, is welcomed as a member, and it rests with the member to become a true Theosophist.

THREE YEARS IN TIBET

BY

EKAI KAWAGUCHI

Late Rector of Gohyakurakan Monastery, Japan.

This is a narrative of entrancing interest. The author has had most exceptional opportunities of seeing the real Tibet, and his point of view as an Asiatic is valuable to all western students. The book is profusely illustrated and contains unique information as to the life and customs of the Tibetan people and priests.

That this is altogether an uncommon book must be the first thought of anyone who takes it in hand, and this impression is deepened the more one examines it Written in a modest and unaffected style, it is a mine of curious and valuable information. . . . —The Field.

This account of a great and dangerous journey is of fascinating interest We wish we had space to refer to the thousand and one things of interest. There is not a dull page in the work Booksellers who have customers interested in strange lands and peoples, or in religions of the East, or in adventurous travel, should not hesitate in advising them to buy this work.—The Publishers' Circular.

A little reading of the pages led to the delightful discovery that I had chanced upon a work of surpassing interest Here is a writer who has the skill to carry us with him for more than 999 wonderful nights and days amid the high altitudes of Tibet, whose mysteries he has unveiled as no author has done before, as none is likely to do again.—R. A. SCOTT-JAMES in The Daily News.

The book is vividly entertaining and crammed with information of a novel kind.—Light.

Quite the most remarkable book on Tibet that has so far been published In knowledge of the daily life of Lhasa Mr. Kawaguchi is unrivalled.—Yorkshire Daily Post.

Library Edition Rs. 12 or 16/-

Special Indian Edition (in paper cover) Rs. 5/8 or 7/6.

With 64 illustrations, 11 photogravures, a route-chart and Multi-colored plate of Lhasa.

SHORT FORM OF BEQUEST

"I give and bequeath to the Theosophical Society, registered and incorporated at Madras, India, April 3rd, 1905, the sum of to be paid within months after my decease (free of duty) exclusively out of such part of my estate not hereby specifically disposed of, as I may by law bequeath to charitable purposes, and I hereby charge such part of my estate with the said sum, and I direct that the receipt of the said Society as provided for in its rules shall be a sufficient discharge for the said legacy."

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

The Theosophical Society was formed at New York, November 17th, 1875, and incorporated at Madras, April 3rd, 1905. It is an absolutely unsectarian body of seekers after Truth, striving to serve humanity on spiritual lines, and therefore endeavoring to check materialism and revive religious tendency. Its three declared objects are :

FIRST.—To form a nucleus of the Universal Brotherhood of Humanity, without distinction of race, creed, sex, caste or color.

SECOND.—To encourage the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science.

THIRD.—To investigate the unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY is composed of students, belonging to any religion in the world or to none, who are united by their approval of the above objects, by their wish to remove religious antagonisms and to draw together men of good will, whatsoever their religious opinions, and by their desire to study religious truths and to share the results of their studies with others. Their bond of union is not the profession of a common belief, but a common search and aspiration for Truth. They hold that Truth should be sought by study, by reflexion, by purity of life, by devotion to high ideals, and they regard Truth as a prize to be striven for, not as a dogma to be imposed by authority. They consider that belief should be the result of individual study or intuition, and not its antecedent, and should rest on knowledge, not on assertion. They extend tolerance to all, even to the intolerant, not as a privilege they bestow, but as a duty they perform, and they seek to remove ignorance, not to punish it. They see every religion as an expression of the Divine Wisdom, and prefer its study to its condemnation, and its practice to proselytism. Peace is their watch-word, as Truth is their aim.

THEOSOPHY is the body of truths which forms the basis of all religions, and which cannot be claimed as the exclusive possession of any. It offers a philosophy which renders life intelligible, and which demonstrates the justice and the love which guide its evolution. It puts death in its rightful place, as a recurring incident in an endless life, opening the gateway of a fuller and more radiant existence. It restores to the world the Science of the Spirit, teaching man to know the Spirit as himself, and the mind and body as his servants. It illuminates the scriptures and doctrines of religions by unveiling their hidden meanings, and thus justifying them at the bar of intelligence, as they are ever justified in the eyes of intuition.

Members of the Theosophical Society study these truths, and Theosophists endeavor to live them. Every one willing to study, to be tolerant, to aim high, and to work perseveringly, is welcomed as a member, and it rests with the member to become a true Theosophist.

NEW EVIDENCES IN PSYCHICAL RESEARCH.

By J. ARTHUR HILL.

From Sir Oliver Lodge's Introduction :

My friend, Mr. J. Arthur Hill, has asked me to introduce his little book to the public, and accordingly I have pleasure in testifying to the careful and responsible truthfulness which characterises his presentation and to the unemotional habit of mind with which he regards these phenomena. So far as a book dealing with a subject of this obscurity can be trustworthy, I consider that this book is of that nature, and the simplicity of its treatment should make it widely read.

ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY.

By ISADOR H. CORIAT, M.D.

Most of the investigations on Abnormal Psychology are widely scattered throughout the pages of medical publications and psychological literature generally. Hence these researches are difficult of access to the general reader in any convenient and connected form. The present volume is an attempt to bring all this material together within the compass of a single work, and some personal observations and experiments have been supplied by the Author in illustration of the various theories propounded.

THE BOOK FOR BEGINNERS

New (Fourth) Edition. Now Ready

Alan Leo's Astrological Text Books

Vol. I. Astrology for All!

THE above is not an exaggerated phrase, neither is it a mere catch title. It is a truth.

Astrology for All is the first title of a series of five large books, none containing less than 300 pages each, written with the express purpose of revealing the mysteries connected with the hitherto misunderstood word Astrology; truly interpreted "The Wisdom of the Stars". The first book of this instructive series is entitled:—

ASTROLOGY FOR ALL. (Without Calculations.) Price 10/6.

This book is now in the third edition. It is entirely free of all calculations, requiring no knowledge of mathematics, and can be read throughout the whole of its 300 pages by the most simple-minded or by the keenest intellect, and, what is very much to the purpose, the truth of the statements it contains can be proven by each individual reader; indeed the most confirmed critic cannot help being amazed at the accuracy of its delineations. Thus minds of none will be injured by its perusal, and all must benefit by the instruction it gives.

To those who know nothing whatever about Astrology, whether biassed, prejudiced, or of open mind, it is the first book to be read, since it carries with it the proof of its own statements. It fully explains the individual and personal characteristics of all persons born at ANY TIME, and gives a clear description of each planet's influence, and the means whereby each reader may note the special influences affecting his own life.

If any of the above statements are not true the Author hereby undertakes to Refund the Price 10/6 paid for the Book.

ASTROLOGY FOR ALL. Part I. (Without Calculations.) IV. Edition.

This is a popular book, and no technicalities are entered into, but on the other hand all necessary explanations are given without either diffuseness or ambiguity, and its large sale increasingly testifies to the growth and spread of the public interest in Astrology.

The aim throughout has been to give the reader a comprehensive grasp of the main outlines of Astrology, and to keep steadfastly before him the dignity and grandeur of the subject: SIMPLICITY, DIRECTNESS, and THOROUGHNESS have been the main objects kept in view, and a complete delineation of the 12 major types and the 144 sub-types born each year being given, the character and temperament of ANYONE BORN DURING THE PAST SIXTY YEARS may be known at a glance.

The reader is spared a long historical introduction, and voluminous quotations from "authorities" in support either of statements made or of Astrology in general.

For the author believes that practical men will care little what the ancients said regarding Astrology IF IT BE NOT TRUE TO-DAY, and he "preaches that which he doth know and testifies to that which he hath seen".

ASTROLOGY FOR ALL. (Without Calculations.) New Edition.

(This work is complete in itself.)

To be had from "Modern Astrology" Office, 42 & 43, Imperial Buildings, Ludgate Circus, London, E.C.

or The Theosophist Office, Adyar, Madras, India.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

The Theosophical Society was formed at New York, November 17th, 1875, and incorporated at Madras, April 3rd, 1905. It is an absolutely unsectarian body of seekers after Truth, striving to serve humanity on spiritual lines, and therefore endeavoring to check materialism and revive religious tendency. Its three declared objects are :

FIRST.—To form a nucleus of the Universal Brotherhood of Humanity, without distinction of race, creed, sex, caste or color.

SECOND.—To encourage the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science.

THIRD.—To investigate the unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY is composed of students, belonging to any religion in the world or to none, who are united by their approval of the above objects, by their wish to remove religious antagonisms and to draw together men of good will, whatsoever their religious opinions, and by their desire to study religious truths and to share the results of their studies with others. Their bond of union is not the profession of a common belief, but a common search and aspiration for Truth. They hold that Truth should be sought by study, by reflexion, by purity of life, by devotion to high ideals, and they regard Truth as a prize to be striven for, not as a dogma to be imposed by authority. They consider that belief should be the result of individual study or intuition, and not its antecedent, and should rest on knowledge, not on assertion. They extend tolerance to all, even to the intolerant, not as a privilege they bestow, but as a duty they perform, and they seek to remove ignorance, not to punish it. They see every religion as an expression of the Divine Wisdom, and prefer its study to its condemnation, and its practice to proselytism. Peace is their watch-word, as Truth is their aim.

THEOSOPHY is the body of truths which forms the basis of all religions, and which cannot be claimed as the exclusive possession of any. It offers a philosophy which renders life intelligible, and which demonstrates the justice and the love which guide its evolution. It puts death in its rightful place, as a recurring incident in an endless life, opening the gateway of a fuller and more radiant existence. It restores to the world the Science of the Spirit, teaching man to know the Spirit as himself, and the mind and body as his servants. It illuminates the scriptures and doctrines of religions by unveiling their hidden meanings, and thus justifying them at the bar of intelligence, as they are ever justified in the eyes of intuition.

Members of the Theosophical Society study these truths, and Theosophists endeavor to live them. Every one willing to study, to be tolerant, to aim high, and to work perseveringly, is welcomed as a member, and it rests with the member to become a true Theosophist.

It restores to the world the Science of the Spirit, teaching man to know the Spirit as himself, and the mind and body as his servants. It illuminates the scriptures and doctrines of religions by unveiling their hidden meanings, and thus justifying them at the bar of intelligence, as they are ever justified in the eyes of intuition.

Members of the Theosophical Society study these truths, and Theosophists endeavor to live them. Every one willing to study, to be tolerant, to aim high, and to work perseveringly, is welcomed as a member, and it rests with the member to become a true Theosophist.

THE BHAGAVAD-GITA

With the text in Devanagari and an English Translation

BY MRS. ANNIE BESANT

Note.—It has long been my ambition to place within reach of the English-reading public a cheap edition of the Bhagavad-Gita with the text in Devanagari and an English translation of the same. Mrs. Annie Besant, that warm and tried friend of India, whose services to our land it were vain to count, has enabled me to realise that ambition by generously granting the use of her English translation. It is devoutly hoped that this great scripture of the Hindus will find a place in thousands of homes both in India and elsewhere.—G. A. NATESAN.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

The Theosophical Society was formed at New York, November 17th, 1875, and incorporated at Madras, April 3rd, 1905. It is an absolutely unsectarian body of seekers after Truth, striving to serve humanity on spiritual lines, and therefore endeavoring to check materialism and revive religious tendency. Its three declared objects are :

FIRST.—To form a nucleus of the Universal Brotherhood of Humanity, without distinction of race, creed, sex, caste or color.

SECOND.—To encourage the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science.

THIRD.—To investigate the unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY is composed of students, belonging to any religion in the world or to none, who are united by their approval of the above objects, by their wish to remove religious antagonisms and to draw together men of good will, whatsoever their religious opinions, and by their desire to study religious truths and to share the results of their studies with others. Their bond of union is not the profession of a common belief, but a common search and aspiration for Truth. They hold that Truth should be sought by study, by reflexion, by purity of life, by devotion to high ideals, and they regard Truth as a prize to be striven for, not as a dogma to be imposed by authority. They consider that belief should be the result of individual study or intuition, and not its antecedent, and should rest on knowledge, not on assertion. They extend tolerance to all, even to the intolerant, not as a privilege they bestow, but as a duty they perform, and they seek to remove ignorance, not to punish it. They see every religion as an expression of the Divine Wisdom, and prefer its study to its condemnation, and its practice to proselytism. Peace is their watchword, as Truth is their aim.

THEOSOPHY is the body of truths which forms the basis of all religions, and which cannot be claimed as the exclusive possession of any. It offers a philosophy which renders life intelligible, and which demonstrates the justice and the love which guide its evolution. It puts death in its rightful place, as a recurring incident in an endless life, opening the gateway of a fuller and more radiant existence. It restores to the world the Science of the Spirit, teaching man to know the Spirit as himself, and the mind and body as his servants. It illuminates the scriptures and doctrines of religions by unveiling their hidden meanings, and thus justifying them at the bar of intelligence, as they are ever justified in the eyes of intuition.

Members of the Theosophical Society study these truths, and Theosophists endeavor to live them. Every one willing to study, to be tolerant, to aim high, and to work perseveringly, is welcomed as a member, and it rests with the member to become a true Theosophist.
